Attractions

SVALBARD MUSEUM
Svalbard Museum is a natural and cultural history museum which imparts knowledge about the way human being use nature on Svalbard. The Museum shop carries a large assortment of books and literature about Svalbard and the polar region, high-quality souvenirs and clothing and a large selection of maps and postcards.

GALLERI SVALBARD
This gallery presents artworks by artists inspired by the nature, light, colours and contrasts in Svalbard. It also includes a permanent collection of paintings by Kåre Tveter, the “painter of light”.

NORTH POLE EXPEDITION MUSEUM
The museum presents the history of three airships that tried to reach the North Pole, all starting from Svalbard: “America”, “Norge” and “Italia”. Exhibition of pictures, documents, films, models of landscape, ships, airplanes and airships. The shop offers books and souvenirs.

WILDPHOTO GALLERY
Our gallery is the northernmost photo gallery in the world. Award winning photographers Ole Jørgen Liødren and Roy Mangersnes are presenting 30 of their best images from Svalbard. They are produced as FineArt prints, then signed and numbered 1-30 in a Limited Edition collection.

GRUVE 3 – MINE NO. 3
Coal mine number 3 was the last low drifted mine with production from 1971 – 1996. See the workshops, coaltip stations, Blacksmiths’ place and the lunch room, and get the chance to test a true miner’s life by crawling through a stoll (small tunnel). On our tour we’ll walk through Mine no. 3’s dark tunnels and experience what it’s like inside the mountain.

SVALBARD CHURCH
Svalbard Church is part of the Church of Norway and organised by the Bishop in Nord-Hålogaland. The Church is a meeting place and a venue for both religious services and cultural gatherings. With the majestic Arctic landscape as our altar cloth, we meet with all kinds of people in all of life’s situations. The church is open 24/7.

Dining, wining and shopping in Longyearbyen

In our small town of 2 400 people we have an abundance of options for both dining & wining, as well as shopping. The cafés, restaurants and bars are varied, but all offering great food and drinks in a relaxed and welcoming atmosphere. The locals love going out eating and drinking, so why don’t you join them?

In between doing activities or visiting attractions you may plan for shopping in one of the town’s many shops. Souvenirs, outdoor equipment, cigarettes, alcohol, gold and much more are to be found – at very reasonable prices as Svalbard is all taxfree (no VAT)!

TAX FREE SHOPPING

Spitsbergen is exempt from VAT, all goods are tax-free

Caring for Svalbard

- Help us keep Svalbard beautiful. Use our rubbish bins and leave no traces behind.
- If you are heading out of town, join an organised tour.
- Notify the Governor’s office (Sysselmesteren) before setting off on longer field excursions alone.
- Walk on the left side of the road if there is no pavement.
- Cultural monuments and remains from before 1946 are protected by law and must not be moved or damaged.
- Do not disturb animals and birds or get too close to take photos.
- Don’t feed, touch or disturb dogs in the dog yards or get too close to take photos.
- Do not pick flowers in Svalbard.
- Polar bears are protected by law. Luring, pursuing or seeking out polar bears is prohibited and extremely dangerous.
- It is compulsory for anyone travelling outside Longyearbyen to be equipped with appropriate means of frightening and chasing off polar bears. Relevant training is also compulsory.
- Get permission before photographing people. Don’t photograph children, including at kindergartens or school.
- Carrying loaded firearms in the settlement is prohibited. Taking firearms into shops or public buildings is also prohibited.
